The Division was represented by Mr. Gary Powers, Esquire who presented Nancy Scarduzio, Principal Marine Biologist for the Division as its only witness.

Division concerning the Applicant's June 15, 2012 application and the supplement thereto. 2 pages (Copy).

Testimony

Applicant's Direct Case:

Mr. Carlos was allowed to testify in narrative form to present the reasons why he felt the Division was wrong in denying the Applicant its transfer application. He testified, under oath, that he purchased a fishing vessel F/V Huntress I (O.N. 608248) at an auction conducted by the U. S. Marshals Service on December 15, 2011 for the sum of Six Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($650,000.00) Dollars. He said that at the time of the auction the representative of the U. S. Marshals Service advised that together with the vessel and its equipment the successful bidder would receive all Federal and State Permits.

This representation was verbal. He testified that he had purchased vessels at auction in the past and this was always a provision. He said that he never before has been involved in a transfer in Rhode Island. He said that he relied on the representations of the U. S. Marshals Service and did not feel it necessary to apply for a transfer of permit. The Applicant rested its case.

Division's Rebuttal Case:

The Division presented as its only witness Ms. Nancy Scarduzio, Principal Marine Biologist for the Division of Fish and Wildlife ("Scarduzio"). Ms. Scarduzio testified that she has been an employee of the Division for eleven (11) years and that one of her duties is to review applications for Summer Flounder Exemption Certificates ("Certificate"). She said that she reviewed approximately thirty (30) applications for the Certificate in the last four (4) years.

She explained that the Certificate authorizes the operator of a vessel who also possesses a valid Rhode Island Commercial Fishing License authorizing the harvesting of summer flounder to land the species in an amount greater than the limit of two hundred (200) pounds per day. She also explained that some commercial fishing licenses only authorized the taking of "non-restricted finfish" and, thus, some licensed fishers are not authorized to take any summer flounder or other "restricted finfish".

Ms. Scarduzio explained the steps she took once she became aware of the fact that the title to the F/V Huntress I (O.N. 608248) had been transferred. She said that she took the initiative to notify Mr. Rafael of the necessity and procedure to transfer the license. In spite of the written explanation provided to the Applicant it never satisfied the Resident non-restricted landing license. DEM continued to try to work with the Applicant to satisfy the license transfer requirement long after the ninety (90) days after title transfer period expired. Rafael, in fact never provided evidence that the proposed operator of the vessel possessed a valid Rhode Island commercial fishing license authorizing the possession of summer flounder.

After a brief cross-examination by Applicant of witness Scarduzio, DEM rested.

Analysis

In this appeal the burden of proof is on the Applicant to show by a preponderance of the evidence that the Division was wrong or committed error when it denied its Application for license transfer. Preponderance of the evidence has been interpreted to mean that it is more likely than not that the Division was wrong or committed error. The Applicant must introduce competent evidence to meet its burden of proof in order to prevail in its appeal.

The Applicant presented no evidence to show that the Division did not follow the law and its own regulations in denying the application. The only evidence presented by the Applicant was in the nature of an equitable argument. The Applicant stated that he relied on the representations of the Federal Marshal at the auction. He acknowledged that he had never been involved with the Rhode Island license transfer procedure. He pleads ignorance of the law.

Ignorance of the law is not an excuse. Everyone is presumed to know the law. Walden v. U. S. 133 S. Ct. 587. In addition, even if the Applicant was not familiar with the license transfer procedures and requirements in Rhode Island, the written correspondence from the Division (Joint Exhibits #4 and #7) expressly spelled out what was required. The Applicant did not and has not complied with the Regulatory requirement of Section 6.1(a) (vii).

CONCLUSION

The Applicant has failed to meet its burden of proof that the Division improperly denied its Application for the transfer of Summer Flounder Exception Certificate # 91. The Applicant's appeal should, therefore, be denied.

FINDINGS OF FACT

Based on the testimony and documentary evidence presented at the administrative Hearing I make the following Findings of Facts:

1. The Administrative Adjudication Division has subject matter jurisdiction over this action and personal jurisdiction over the Applicant.
2. The Applicant received a Denial Letter dated November 1, 2012 from the Division (Division Exhibit # 1 Full).
3. Pursuant to a letter dated November 21, 2012 on behalf of the Applicant (Joint Exhibit # 2 Full) Applicant requested a hearing before the AAD concerning the Denial Letter dated November 1, 2012.
4. Applicant acquired the F/V Huntress I (O.N. 608248) from the U. S. Marshall Service at an auction through on or about December 15, 2011 (Joint Exhibit # 3 Full).
5. The Division contacted the Applicant via letter dated March 23, 2012 (Joint Exhibit # 4) in which the Division advised the Applicant's obligation to satisfy the qualifications to complete the transfer of the Summer Flounder Exemption Certificate.

6. The Applicant submitted an application for application for the transfer of Summer Flounder Exemption Certificate # 91 to the Division dated June 15, 2012 (Joint Exhibit # 5 Full).
7. Applicant's June 15, 2012 application for transfer failed to include evidence that the operator of the subject vessel possessed a valid Rhode Island commercial fishing license to land summer flounder. Rather, the application was supported by Multi-purpose landing license –MPLAND000205 for a non-resident with which one is not permitted to land restricted finfish and therefore not in compliance with the licensure requirement of the regulation.
8. Applicant through his agent, Jason Davis, was advised of the licensure deficiency to which Jason Davis responded on July 31, 2012 by faxing copies of two RI Multi-purpose landing licenses for non-residents (Joint Exhibit # 6 Full). Both which did not permit landing of restricted finfish, and therefore did not meet the regulation requirement.
9. On July 31, 2012, Ms. Scarduzio responded to Mr. Davis via email (Joint Exhibit # 7) with notice of the inadequacy of the license submittals and the provision of a copy of the governing regulations.

10. On November 1, 2012, over ninety (90) days following the July 31, 2012 correspondence, the Division provided the Applicant with a Denial Letter (Division Exhibit # 1).

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Based on the above Findings of Fact I make the following Conclusions of Law:

1. The Administrative Adjudication Division has subject matter jurisdiction over this action and personal jurisdiction over the Applicant.
2. The Applicant has filed a timely Appeal from the Division Denial of its Application.
3. The Applicant has not satisfied his burden of proving at hearing that the Division was in error when it denied on November 1, 2012 the Applicant's June 15, 2012 application for the transfer of Summer Flounder Exemption Certificate # 91.
4. The Division's Decision to deny the Applicant's Application should be upheld.
5. The Applicant's Appeal should be Denied.

ORDER

Based on the above Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law it is hereby
